“Train the Trainer—training course for criminal defence advocates” is one of the phases of the international project NETPRALAT. The Polish Bar Council is one of the partners of NETPRALAT being actively involved in its implementation.

ABOUT NETPRALAT

Procedural rights of suspects during pre-trial detention and interrogations have been strengthened in recent European legislation (so-called procedural rights' Directives). This legislation imposes specific duties and requirements on the lawyer during these stages, for example to play an active role during suspect interrogations in pre-trial proceedings. In view of these new requirements, the EU-funded project NetPraLat (NETworking to strengthen pre-trial procedural rights by PRACTice-oriented cross-border LAWyers Training), a collaboration of CICAC (Barcelona Bar Council), Maastricht University, Iridia (Spain), Human Rights Monitoring Institute (HRMI) and Polish Bar Council (Naczelna Rada Adwokacka), implement a training programme aimed to enhance practical skills of lawyers in providing an effective defence during pre-trial stages of the criminal proceedings. The program builds on the experiences of the SUPRALAT project ("Strengthening suspects' rights in pre-trial proceedings through practice-oriented training for lawyers") implemented in 2015–2017 in Belgium, Hungary, Ireland and Holland.
